Among the speakers who will address the meeting is Hon. John S. Carlile. one of the most eloquent men in West Virginia, with whose reputation on the stump all the older portion of our people are familiar. He always makes an interesting speech. It is also possible that Hon. John J. Davis and Gen. Goff, of Clarks. burg, may be present, and perhaps other gentlemen. In any event there will be speakers enough present for the occa-sion. Let us therefore turn out in large numbers at the Court House and hear what Clarksburg has to say on her behalf.

Exhibition of the Neotrophian Society on Thursday evening, Gov. Mathews and Attorney-General White were called out on the stage and made short addresses to the boys. The Governor told them that while they had finished their college course yet they had only just entered the great school of the world, a school in which there was vastly more to be learn ed than in any college.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTERS.

Dr. John C. Campbell, of Onio county, has been a member of the Board of Trustees of Bethany College for 36 years—in fact was one of the charter members,—and in all that time has been absent only once. President W. K. Pendleton, the president ex-officio of the Board, has been connected with the institution since

Before the war the preponderance of patronage at Bethany was largely from the South, especially from Kentucky and Missouri. Now the preponderance is changed, and Ohio leads Kentucky. The last catalogue before us shows 30 students from Ohio. 21 from Kentucky and 21 from West Virginia. No longer the boys from South Carolina make the welkin ring with secession appeaches. All that sort of thing is "played." A spirit of broad and Catholic nationalism has takentis place. Polities is no longer a bone broad and Cathotic nationalism has ta-ken its place. Politics is no longer a bon of contention or an element of estrange upent among the students. Every fellow words his speeches now-a-days to sui himself on the Southern situation.

AN INTELLIGENT CONTRABAND.

Speaking of slavery, I should have made mention yesterday of a colored man from old Virginia, who presides as major shows a child to honorable mention in referring to the admirable manner in which the throng of visitors were served with lunch, on Thursday. He is known as Capt. Lewis Nuckolls, and is a native of Louisa county, Virginia, the President's old home, and is a highly executive person. A friend supplies us with the following information in regard to Capt. Lewis:

He presides especially in the dining room, where he has no peer, as all can attest who lunched there on Thursday, but his abilities are not confined to that department. He is everywhere about the premises, sliding, assisting, and "bossing," when necessary, and has almost made himself a necessity to visitors. A feeling of "make yourself at home" takes possession of the atranger upon meeting him. Even before meeting the hospitable host and hostess, you feel that you are in the presence of one who feels a full propriety, interest and acts under a full dedimus potstatem to dispense, as a spative of the Old Dominion so eminently can, the rights of hospitality. None of us full dedimus pointaiem to dispense, as a ative of the Qld Dominion so eminently can, the rights of hospitality. One of the livest men in Brooke county is Sheriff Curtis, whose place adjoins that of Col. Alex. Campbell, at the west end of Col. Alex, Campbell, at the west end of the environs of Bethany. He is deservedly one of the most popular men in the county, and is an active, pushing, public spirited citizen, who from small beginnings has come to be one of the solid men of that region. He is one of the few men who make money-without exciting envy and prejudice. At the late election for Sheriff he was supported by voters of both parties. His place was once the home of the late Prof. A. F. Ross, who built the house, laid out the grounds, planted the shrubbery and the evergreens that now adorn the spot. Prof. Ross was one of the men who sowed more than he reaped in this world. Like more than he reaped in this world. Like so many excellent and scholarly men, he was not a financial manager, and after many years of hard service as an educa-tor died poor as the President of Franklin College, Athens, Ohio. This is the name of the Janitor of the College. He reminds one of the pictures of the turnkey of the Tower of London, and like old Baliol is hard of hearing. He carries more keys than Saint Peter, and has no objection to a little Peter's pence when he shows you around through the stately pile of college buildings. And yet Mark is a square man. Let no one take up any other idea. If you drop your handkerchiefor glove, or forget your umbrella or parasol, you can always count on Mark's honesty. His democracy, however, is of the most antiquated and inflexible character.

The Ambassador telegraphed to his government for instructions, and received a dispatch from the Russian Sovereign, empowering him to do so. Russia will propose a temporary occupation of Constantinople, undertaking to evacuate the Turkish capital on receiving indemnity for the expenses of war and proposes guarantees that the reforms proposed for the administration of the Turkish Provinces shall be faithfully carried into operation. Any proposition abolishing the Turkish maritime force in the Black Sea will be rejected by Great Bristian.
